THE POWER OF THE FEMININE

FACING SHADOW EVOKING LIGHT

Human Foundation The Power of the Feminine: Facing Shadow Evoking Light highlights women's role in global change. Authors are from Egypt, Ghana, Exile Tibet, and the United States. They discuss the dismantling of patriarchal and colonizing behaviors influencing political, economic, and religious paradigms. Colonization has caused great harm to people of color, indigenous cultures, and natural resources. Authors emphasize the need to face the human shadow. Patriarchy has suppressed women, Nature, and the power of the feminine. We have been unable to ground many of our religious and ethical ideals simply because of the suppression of the feminine-the relational archetype. Listening to the guidance of indigenous peoples is encouraged as they have maintained a stronger relationship to Nature, respecting all species throughout human evolution. Authors emphasize the need for healthier ways of living and relating in order to create a healthier future for our youth and the future of all humanity. An organization for change is presented: Face the human shadow, heal oneself, create healthier relationships from birth forward, and support the emergence of the feminine archetype in both women and men.

FACING THE BLACK SHADOW

Why are so many African Americans unhappy in their relationships, in their families and in their own bodies? Facing the Black Shadow is an intimate look at how black families, couples and individuals struggle against the pervasive belief in black inferiority - the "black shadow." This groundbreaking book offers a new way to challenge that belief and move from self-blame and self-hate to understanding and empowerment. Written by Dr. Marlene F. Watson, who is one of the country's foremost African American couple and family therapists, Facing the Black Shadow is filled with memorable stories and examples from her therapy practice and her own personal journey. With unflinching honesty and a tender eye, she tackles some of the most taboo topics in the African American community: skin-tone privilege and favoritism in black families; the long-term effects of the multigenerational legacy of slavery; the self-hate black people feel when they look in the mirror. Far from being a depressing book, Facing the Black Shadow offers a path for wholeness and happiness. Readers will find practical advice, step-by-step exercises and inspiration to transform their relationship to their own "black shadows" and find inner peace, connection and healing.

IN THE SHADOW OF DEATH

Jaico Publishing House True Stories of Convicts Facing the Death Penalty A RARE GLIMPSE INTO THE COMPLEX MINDS OF KILLERS. In the Shadow of Death is a retired CID chief's quest to understand the psyche of death row prisoners. In this chilling account, D. V. Guruprasad delves deep into the world of crime to uncover who these convicts are and how they view the charges against them. In India, capital punishment is awarded only in the 'rarest of rare' cases; the gruesome murders covered in this book will convince you that they fit the description. Criminals featured in this book are as varied as they can come and so are their crimes: a serial killer who targeted young women, a savage gang that terrorized a metropolis, a runaway woman who took to murder as an easy way to survive, a constable with a deadly fetish ... As these prisoners stare death in the face, do they experience the crippling "death row syndrome"? Do they fear the impending execution and the uncertainty about their final day on earth? Do they regret their past deeds? There's also the view from the other end of the rope—a peek into a hangman's typical preparations before a hanging—making this a gripping read. "The impairment of reality sense, the lack of thought for the future, the denial of unpleasant facts and possibilities, an almost delusional belief in his own cleverness and ability to escape detection are characteristic of many criminals."
